LOCAL KIWANIS HOLD BANQUET, GET CHARTER

Inspiring Program Features
Meeting of Organization;
Impressive Talks

The Glendale Kiwanis club, through the formal receipt of its charter last night in the assembly room of the Citizens' building, officially became a branch of the international Kiwanis club.

Cameron DeHart Thom presided as toastmaster and helped a hilarious and peppy delegation of forty from Fullerton keep those present in a roar of laughter. The presentation of the charter was made by Leslie B. Henry of Pasadena, second vice-president of the Kiwanis International.

"Kiwanism so far as the business man is concerned is something aside from a mere social gathering," he asserted in the speech of the evening. "Kiwanism in its largest sense means opportunity. Opportunity for something more than merely the clasp of hands. The good Kiwanian does not believe that his home ends with the four corners of the lot on which his house is placed."

The charter was accepted by Lyman P. Clark, president of the local club. He expressed his gratitude for it in behalf of the club and thanked the guests of the evening, some of whom had come from Santa Barbara, Long Beach and other communities of Southern California.

"As I hold in my hands this charter, which you have presented to the Kiwanis club of Glendale, I cannot help but realize that, after all, it is a license from authority to go to work and show by our deeds that we are a power for good," said Mr. Clark. "It carries no guarantee of future success but it is an indication that we have met certain elementary requirements of membership which allows us to become a part of the great international organization."

"I feel, therefore, that I express the sentiment of the Glendale Kiwanis club when I say that we feel keenly our responsibility and realize the importance of continued effort that we may be worthy of membership in this great body."

Lots of Optimism
This anxiety of obligation, however, is offset by abundant optimism. (Continued on Page 10).

Y. L. I. Install New Officers at Meeting

Installation of officers of Ramona Institute, Y. L. I., took place last night at the regular meeting of that organization at Odd Fellows' hall. After the regular business session, refreshments were served. Mrs. Julia Salmacia, retiring president of Ramona institute, was presented with a beautiful gold rosary in a gold case in appreciation of her work as leader during the past year.

Residents Approve Salem Street Work

Residents on Salem street between Columbus and California avenues are keenly interested in the initial steps taken yesterday by the city street department towards extensive improvements of Salem street. The portion between the two avenues is the first unit to be worked on and while the time of work brings great inconvenience upon those who use it daily for travel, the taxpayers and residents are looking forward to the transformation of the street into a boulevard.

LYMAN P. CLARK, president of the Glendale Kiwanis Club, who last night received the charter from the International Kiwanis Club.

CAMERON DE HART THOM, who presided last night as toastmaster and kept things lively during the banquet of the local Kiwanis Club.

CONFERENCE OVER PATTERSON PLAN BEING HELD

Number of Property Owners
Seek Exact Facts About
Proposed Improvement

Property owners in the vicinity of Patterson avenue are to meet tonight at 8 o'clock at the Columbus avenue school to hear the report of a committee appointed at the last meeting and to form an improvement association. This announcement was made this morning by H. L. Finlay, who presided over the last meeting. It is thought that by forming an organization such as an improvement association, the owners in that district will be better able to meet the problems which confront them from time to time.

The committee consisting of H. L. Parker, J. R. Gray, Frank B. Leslie and Rudolph Streit was to interview City Manager Reeves this afternoon and have its report ready for tonight's meeting.

"The general public seems to have the wrong idea about our motives," says Rudolph Streit, one of the committee. "We are not going before the city officials to protest any action with regard to Patterson avenue or any other street, for there are no proceedings as yet. We are just to get the facts of this proposed opening and improving of Patterson avenue so that at tonight's meeting we can intelligently explain the situation. After the owners have learned the plans, the cost and its appropriation, they can then take what action they see fit."

Many of the property owners went to the meeting last Tuesday night with the wrong impression of the situation, it is said. After it had been explained that no proceedings for the new plan for Patterson avenue had as yet been instituted and that the council wished only to do that which would benefit the most people, the tenor of the assemblage changed from an indignant to an inquiring mood.

Want Clear Report
"We want to get the clear report of the situation," says H. L. Finlay, chairman of the meeting, "and then with the formation of our improvement association, we will be able to cope with any problems which may present themselves."

"I want to urge all those who live in the district which might be affected by proceedings on Patterson avenue and, in fact, all the property owners in this part of the city, to attend tonight's meeting. It is my earnest wish that the proposed improvement association may be a success, and that can only be brought about if it represents the majority of the property owners of the district."

From an authoritative source the International News Service learned to submit a plan at this afternoon's conference with the strike leaders in which they in all probability will accept.

TWELFTH DISTRICT SAYS BUSINESS IS BOOMING BANK ON SATURDAY AFTERNOON PLEA AT GATHERING

Increasing Activity Is All Along Line, According to Federal Agent

SAN FRANCISCO, July 27.—Business is booming in the Twelfth Federal Reserve district and the indications of increasing business activity which first appeared during April and May multiplied during June, according to the report of Federal Reserve Agent John Perrin made public today. High lights of the report follow:

Sales of thirty-two representative department stores were three per cent greater in dollar value in June this year than the same month a year ago despite decline in prices.

Of ten reporting wholesale lines, nine reported greater dollar value sales for this June than a year ago.

Employment has increased throughout the district so generally that involuntary unemployment has practically disappeared.

Increase in Wages
The first wage increase since the business recession began in 1920 was recorded during June in the lumber industry.

Principal manufacturing cities of district report substantial increase of manufacturing activity as compared with June, 1921.

Lumber and log production exceeded the figures of the previous months of the year and were 50 per cent and 20 per cent respectively in excess of output in June, 1921.

Building activity during June was exceeded only during April. The yields of peaches and pears generally, and of other commercial fruits in California, will be almost without exception larger than last year.

California fruit canners plan a 1922 pack 15 to 20 per cent greater than last year's pack of 8,500,000 cases.

Merchants ought to be more careful in cashing checks, was the warning issued this morning by Col. J. D. Fraser, chief of police. Glendale Exchange Club to Hear Committee Report
Concerning Idea

Local banking facilities on Saturday afternoons was suggested yesterday noon by G. C. McConnell of the Builders' Hardware & Supply Company, 633 East Broadway, at the weekly luncheon of the Glendale Exchange Club.

George H. Thomas of the Brand Boulevard Branch of the Los Angeles Trust & Savings Bank stated that this matter had been discussed informally recently by branch managers of this institution. He called attention to the fact that the men of the building trades seem to quit work about 11 o'clock Saturday morning in order to get to a bank before it closes.

Mr. McConnell commented upon the difficulty merchants had of keeping enough change on hand to cash checks Saturday afternoon and remarked that a number of workmen did their banking in Los Angeles because they could make deposits and withdrawals after working hours.

Mr. Thomas replied that, if this were the case to any considerable extent, the local banks certainly would be glad to know of it.

Committee Inquiry
James Harrower of the Harrower Laboratory recommended the appointment of a committee of three to investigate and report at the next meeting. Capt. W. B. Kelly of 106 West Colorado street, who presided, appointed Mr. McConnell, W. C. Waring of the Army and Navy Store, 201 South Brand boulevard, and E. N. Radke, 109 South Brand boulevard.

Suggestion was made by Mr. Radke that the Glendale Exchange Club should secure the new municipal park on Admission Day, September 9, for a picnic. He was quite enthusiastic about the possibilities of staging a few clean boxing bouts.

Considerable discussion developed in regard to the best entertainment method of raising funds to send Mr. Kelly as a delegate to Louisville, Ky., to attend the national convention in September.

It was the consensus of opinion that the presentation of a vaudeville bill in a local theatre would be both expensive and impractical. George A. Whitaker of 406 East Broadway, chairman of the entertainment committee, opposed the idea.

At the same time fifty additional deputy marshals were sworn in to enforce the court's mandates. CHICAGO, July 27.—Explosion of what is believed to have been a bomb in the hands of Charles B. Signer, assistant general manager of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western railroad, is being investigated today by the police. The police theory is that railroad strikers may have been responsible. Signer's hand was almost torn off.

The use of troops to protect private operators was condemned.

'NO WAGE REDUCTIONS' DECLARES JOHN L. LEWIS

PHILADELPHIA, July 27.—"There will be no separate wage settlements between the miners and operators," John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, said in a statement this afternoon. "It is undoubtedly true that to all purposes and effects the miners have won the present strike, and it is almost universally recognized in industrial and financial circles throughout the country that no wage reductions can be applied in the mining industry. It only remains for an interstate joint conference to be convened in order to permit of the immediate negotiation of a new wage agreement. This is the only way in which a settlement can be made. There will be no district or separate settlements. Such an arrangement will permit the resumption of mining and relief to embarrassed industry and a suffering public."

DEFENSE DEMANDS DISMISSAL OF TRIAL JUROR

CHICAGO, July 27.—Excitement reigned in the court room of Judge Thomas Taylor, Jr., today when charges were made that one of the jurors in the Murphy-Mader-Shea trial—the "big three" of the Chicago labor war—was a friend of state's witnesses and that surreptitious smiles had been exchanged between the witness, the juror and the special prosecutor. Attorneys for the defense demanded an immediate dismissal of Juror J. H. Simpson, who lives across the street from Henry O'Callaghan, master plumber and state's witness. They asked that the trial be put over until fall and then resumed with eleven jurors. Judge Taylor excused the jury from the room during the legal squabble and then said he would look up points of law in connection with the controversy.

TRUCE IN RAILROAD STRIKE BEING MADE, REPORT

WASHINGTON, July 27.—Definite progress toward establishing a truce in the national railroad strike that is slowly strangling industry and commerce was made here today in a series of White House conferences which brought before President Harding all the parties directly concerned in the controversy. In the face of White House silence as to the actual steps taken, or proposals made, the most significant development was the announcement by T. Dewitt Cuyler, president of the Association of Railway Executives, that he and certain other executives will remain in Washington for "a week or so." The announcement followed an hour's conference between Cuyler and the president this morning. Even more significant was the announcement that Cuyler would return to the White House for another session with the chief executive tonight, the president in the meantime having a conference with B. M. Jewell, strike director, and the leader of the six federated shop crafts concerned in the tieup.

REALTY MEN HEAR OF INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT

Great Southwest Gets Much
New Business, Declares
Speaker at Meeting

An address by Julius Snyder, industrial development expert of a Los Angeles newspaper, was a feature of the meeting yesterday noon of the Glendale Realty Board, held in the Chamber of Commerce hall.

"The first thing that impressed me on coming to Los Angeles about two years ago was the possibility for industrial development to which the native sons seemed almost oblivious," stated Mr. Snyder, who is declared to be a journalist of wide experience and who has made an extensive study of industrial problems.

"Southern California," he continued, "used to be considered a place for old people to come and spend their last days in sunshine and among flowers. But the younger generation is now flowing into the state, and the population is starting to increase and industries are being developed to keep pace, for wherever the population is, there the industries will be."

Western Development
The western states, he pointed out, with a population of over fifteen millions, is now practically supplying itself. Instead of looking to the Atlantic coast states for commodities, he declared, these western people are making them.

"We are not yet fully awake to the tremendous scope of this industrial development going on around us," declared Mr. Snyder. "Never in the history of the world have there been gathered together in so small a compass as Southern California the potentialities for industrial and commercial development that we find here. These are bound to exert a powerful controlling influence on the commerce of the next generation."

"Men who have fifty millions of dollars invested in Chicago, exclusive of the stock yards, are now behind the Union Stock Yards project," stated Mr. Snyder, and enumerated other evidences of the faith of persons new to the country in its possibilities.

Greater Than Realized
He predicts a development in Southern California much greater than is generally realized and almost beyond the power of human conception. Monster irrigation projects, which will involve the damming of many of the canyons in this vicinity for the impounding (Continued on Page 10).

Judge Lowe Says New Park Excellent

The new municipal park was visited this morning for the first time by Judge F. H. Lowe, who doubled his compliments to the city administration for its acquisition upon his return.

He characterized the improvement work which is now in progress there "as a gift opportunity to finish up what God has done." Judge Lowe said that he was both surprised and delighted with the park. He was especially pleased with the view from the watershed which runs through the property. He remarked that a little work would make plenty of water available for irrigation purposes.

Judge Lowe did not mention the possibility of holding court in the new pavilion now under construction.

BULL DOGS AND WHIPPED CREAM

Do you know when to stop? There has been a great deal said in praise of the habit of sticking to a thing, of keeping on with what one has started to do, no matter how great the odds or how much it takes out of you.

The bull dog and his grip have been lauded to the skies. And the fact that sometimes the bull dog is a goop to hang on like that and deserves and gets the toe of somebody's boot for it, is lost sight of.

It's a good thing to know when to hang on and it's a good thing to know when to let go.

Obstinacy and Idiotcy

Perseverance is a fine quality when it is balanced by a sense of proportion. When it is not, it often becomes a blend of obstinacy and idiotcy.

People who have this quality of perseverance in sticking to a purpose often make a fetish of it and worship it. They will spend hundreds of foot pounds of mental or physical energy to attain an end that was worth perhaps a hundredth part of that effort and then they boast about it. "I never give up until I do what I started out to do," they will say proudly. "Everyone knows that's the kind of person I am."

It Wouldn't Whip

And on the altar of this conception of themselves they sacrifice

BEAUTY CHATS

RESULTS OF THE PERMANENT WAVE

When all the complicated process of winding and baking the hair is finished, when the hair is unwound and shampooed, and trained deftly into loose, natural looking Marcel waves by the skillful hands of the attendant, when the hair has dried so these waves are temporarily set there is only one remaining thing to do—spraying the hair with a scented solution called a fixing fluid. Personally I haven't an idea as to the contents of this fluid. I have not tried to analyze it since it is of no use to the average woman. The only ones who need to know are those who have had their hair permanently waved and they have already taken so much on faith that it won't be difficult to accept a bottle of fixing solution in addition.

The woman who has just had her hair done will be told that she must purchase a bottle of this and also an atomizer to keep it in and to spray it over her waves from time to time. When the hair is shampooed it must not be dried by the hot air machine unless the nozzle of the pipe from the hot air blower is covered so she only has the heat on her hair. If she shampoos her hair at home, of course, she can dry it in the sun or before a fire, and as it dries carefully reform the curls into soft loose waves. If the process has been successful she can live in damp and foggy climates, in the sea air or go bathing every day and it will not affect the curliness of the hair. She will, of course, always have to

JAMS AND PRESERVES

Preserves and jams are so nearly alike that it is hard to draw a definite line of distinction. If there is any difference it lies in the fact that preserves are usually so prepared that the fruit, either sliced or whole, is as little broken as possible and rests in a clear, thick juice, while jam is as its name would imply, a thick well mashed compote.

When cooking fruit preserves the fruit is generally cooked alone or with a very little water, unless recipe calls for sugar to draw out the juice if no water is needed. As in making jelly, sugar should be added at two different times; this prevents fruit from hardening if it has to cook a long time, and insures successful thickening of the fruit after last sugar is added. In fact, some fruits may stay thin after the second part of the sugar is added, not because the recipe is faulty or a mistake has been made, but just because the fruit lacked the right amount of gelatinizing power. If dependent on the markets, the right quality of fruit cannot always be secured. In this case a few extra spoonfuls of sugar can be added and the preserves taken from fire as soon as it is dissolved. It still fails to thicken, use this thin batch as the foundation for another time, adding unripe fruit of some kind, as we do in jelly making. The length of time for the final cooking must be determined by testing jam on a cold saucer; if it forms a clear, thick jelly, it is done. Jam, like jelly, should stand covered with cheesecloth for one or two days to harden before closing.

If fruit is of good quality and the sugar pure, there is very little scum on the fruit during the cooking, but usually at some stage of preserving or canning a film rises to the surface. It is best to skim it off as soon as it be-

AMERICA'S FIRST WOMAN JUDGE ASKS PLACE ON SUPREME BENCH

Miss Florence Allen Asks Voters of Ohio To Promote Her From County Court

BY WILLIAM J. HUSKE
Staff Correspondent International News Service

CLEVELAND, July 27.—And now a woman comes forward, knocks at the portals of Ohio's highest court and asks the men now occupying that august bench to draw their robes closer around them and make room for the first representative of the sex that has begun to taste the fruits of complete emancipation and participation in the affairs of government.

This woman is Judge Florence E. Allen, of the Common Pleas Court of Cuyahoga county, with much creditable work upon the bench to her credit. Miss Allen, however, is not making her campaign upon the basis of sex, but on merit, and while she expects the almost solid support of Ohio women she counts also upon receiving the votes of thousands of men.

Upon her committee appear the names of Judge Frederick A. Henry, of the Appellate Court, and William L. Davis, one of the leaders of the Cleveland bar.

"I believe it is just as important that moral standards exist and actively function in public as in private life. The question we should ask is not whether the people concerned in any proposed transaction are rich or poor, powerful or weak, or whether personal animus exists, but whether the thing proposed is right. The test of action in government on all basic matters should be a moral test."

Elaborates Platform Planks

Thus Judge Allen, first and only woman Common Pleas Judge in the United States, elaborated one of the "planks" in the platform upon which she will seek the support of Ohio voters this fall.

Six things, Miss Allen said, constituted her creed for the guidance of public officials. These are:

- First—Law enforcement.
- Second—Justice for all.
- Third—Business methods applied to the courts.
- Fourth—Efficient work by public servants.
- Fifth—Respect for law, order and the courts.
- Sixth—Moral standards must actively function in government.

"I believe," she continued, "whatever laws we have should be enforced, whether these laws are good or bad. If a law is defective or inadequate, then it ought to be enforced in order that its defects may become apparent. I am against lax enforcement, as it breeds contempt for the law."

Would Disregard Riches

Justice should be administered without regard to personality or condition of the parties before the court, but wholly upon merit. It ought not to make any difference whether the parties concerned are rich or poor, black or white. No other consideration should have weight with the court but the merits of the case.

"I believe that business methods should be applied to the business of the courts. By this I mean that we should have efficient business administration in our court system. The report of the Cleveland Foundation survey, which was approved in its main findings by the Cleveland Bar association, shows that efficient business methods in many instances are not followed in our administration of justice. Steps should be taken at once to the end that our courts may be placed upon a firm foundation, calculated to inspire the respect of all."

"I believe in respect for law. Unless the community does have respect for the law we cannot have law enforcement, nor can we protect individual rights through the

Diet and Health

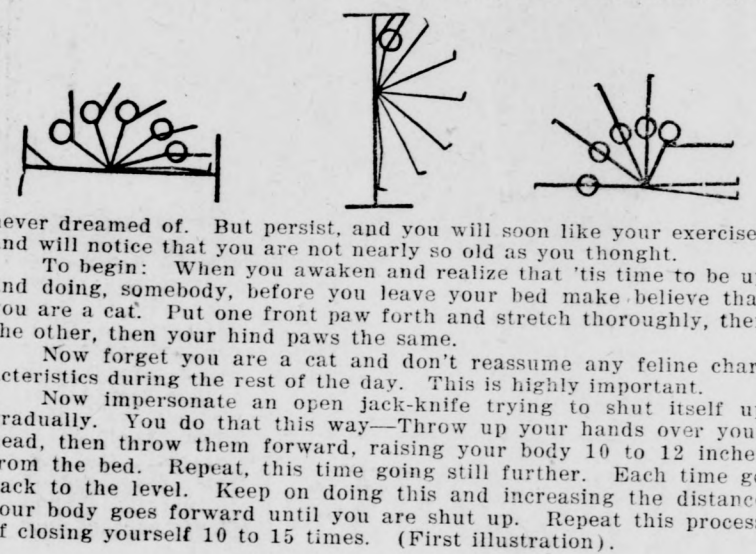

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.
Author of "Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories"

ACTIVE EXERCISE

Yesterday we talked on the mechanical devices for giving needed passive exercise to those who for some reason, extreme over-weight, weak heart, voluntary inertia, etc., cannot take active exercise. Today I shall give some exercises to those who do not come under that heading.

First to review a little the need for exercise: It is highly important that while you are consuming your own fat, all same cannibal, you tone up and strengthen your muscles, increase your circulation to bring extra oxygen to the seats of the mighty so as to help consume that fat, activate your internal glands so you will not have to deprive some other monkey of its; wake up your gray matter and strengthen that and the rest of your nervous system and ensoforth.

If you have not been in the habit of exercising, better begin with only four or five of the movements and gradually work up to a greater number. Even then, you must not be surprised if you are stiff and sore for a while. You will realize that you have muscles that you never dreamed of. But persist, and you will soon like your exercises and will notice that you are not nearly so old as you thought.

To begin: When you awaken and realize that 'tis time to be up and doing, somebody, before you leave your bed make believe that you are a cat. Put one front paw forth and stretch thoroughly, then the other, then your hind paws the same.

Now forget you are a cat and don't reassume any feline characteristics during the rest of the day. This is highly important.

Now impersonate an open jack-knife trying to shut itself up gradually. You do that this way—Throw up your hands over your head, then throw them forward, raising your body 10 to 12 inches from the bed. Repeat, this time going still further. Each time go back to the level. Keep on doing this and increasing the distance your body goes forward until you are shut up. Repeat this process of closing yourself 10 to 15 times. (First illustration.)

These illustrations will perhaps help you to visualize the process. (Sorry I haven't my rascal nephew with me. He is my real artist.)

Now holding on to the head of the bed, reverse the process until your feet are over your head. Get to this gradually as you did going forward. Work up to 10 to 15 times. (Last illustration.)

Now forget you are a knife, and don't do anything cutting during the day either.

Get up! This is the last time I am going to call you.

Now go through that bending and touching the floor without bending your knees stunt. First, bend forward a little, go back to the erect position, then forward a little more and back, and keep on repeating until you finally can touch the floor. Repeat these touching exercises 10 to 15 times as you did the others. (Middle illustration.)

Tomorrow some more exercises. Heavens! I've forgotten to order your meals! You'll have to have about what you had yesterday. Sorry! You may tuck in 100 C's more, now making 1000 C's.

Tomorrow—Counting Calories.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

BY HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE BUBBLING SPRING

Uncle Wiggily was hopping through the woods one day, not far from his hollow stump when, all of the sudden, the bunny rabbit gentleman began to feel very thirsty.

"Oh, dear!" he exclaimed, "I wish Susie and Baby Bunty had their lemonade stand here now. I'd take two drinks and part of another one."

Mr. Longears looked this way and that way through the woods, but no lemonade stand did he see, and a good reason, too. There was none there. Susie and Baby Bunty were over at the home of Lulu and Alice Wiggilobble, the ducks, playing dolls' house.

"Oh, wow!" howled the bad chap.

a waterfall, I could get a drink. It is a long way back to my hollow stump bungalow, and it is so long since I was in these woods that I have forgotten where there is any water. Oh, how thirsty I am!" sighed the poor bunny gentleman.

"Ha! Thirsty, are you?" spoke a loud voice just behind Uncle Wiggily. "Well, how would you like a drink at my bubbling spring?"

The bunny rabbit looked around but, for a moment he could see no one. He was about to hop away and hide himself in the bushes, thinking perhaps the Woozie Wolf or the Fuzzy Fox was trying to play a trick on him, when the loud voice laughed, and asked again:

"How would you like to have a drink from my bubbling spring? Come, you said you were thirsty; how about a drink from my bubbling spring?"

"Who—who are you?" stammered Uncle Wiggily.

"Your old friend Grandpa Bull, the green frog," was the laughing answer, and out from behind a stump hopped Mr. Bull, latter than ever.

"Oh, I'm so glad it's you!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily. "You always know where there is water to be found. Take me to your bubbling spring, if you please, though I didn't know you had one."

"Oh, yes!" answered Grandpa Bull, hopping along beside Uncle Wiggily. "I have springs in different parts of the forest, so when I am out, hopping around, I can have a swim and a drink. My bubbling spring is just around the corner from the sassafras bush."

Leading the way, Grandpa Bull showed Uncle Wiggily where to hop, and soon the bunny stood in front of a little clump of stones in the shape of a well. And inside the circle of stones was a crystal clear pool of cold water.

"There! Have all the drinks you want, Uncle Wiggily!" invited Grandpa Bull.

"Thank you, spoke the bunny. 'It is very cool and refreshing,' he said, as he straightened up after having leaned over to sip the cool water. 'But why do you call it a bubbling spring, Grandpa? I have seen springs of water that boiled and bubbled, but this one doesn't do anything like that.'"

"It does when I make it!" chuckled Grandpa Bull. "Wait a minute and I'll show you!"

Standing on the edge of the spring, Grandpa Bull jumped in head first, making a great splash. Then, as the waters grew quiet, and as Uncle Wiggily looked the bunny suddenly saw the spring begin to bubble. It spluttered up and down, shooting up into the air and then the water fell back into the spring again, as though a hidden fountain were playing beneath the surface.

"Did you see it?" croaked Grandpa Bull, as he popped himself up out of his spring. "Did you see it bubble?"

"Yes, but what made it?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"I did," answered the old frog gentleman. "Once I was under water I puffed and I blew out my breath and made the spring bubble. I can do it any time I wish, only of course I don't do it when my friends are drinking."

"I should hope not," laughed Uncle Wiggily. "Otherwise their noses would fill with water if they drank when the spring bubbled. Show me again how you do it, Grandpa Bull."

So the old bull frog gentleman jumped into the spring again, and hidden down on the bottom he puffed and blew, sending up bubbles and a fountain of cold water.

"That's wonderful!" said Uncle Wiggily, as the bubbling stopped, and Grandpa Bull started to swim out.

"What's wonderful?" asked a growling voice, and there, right beside the bunny stood the Fuzzy Fox. "What's wonderful?" asked the Fox.

"This spring," said Uncle Wiggily, knowing that Grandpa Bull could hear what was said. "Take a drink from the spring, Mr. Fox, and see how wonderful it is."

"I will!" growled the Fox. "I'll take a drink from the spring and then I'll carry you off to my den!"

The Fox leaped over to drink from the spring, but just then, all of a sudden, Grandpa Bull puffed and blew and sent a lot of the cold, sparkling water bubbling up into the face of the Fox.

"Oh, wow!" howled the bad chap. "This must be a keyser! Oh, my nose and my eyes! Oh, dear!" and away he ran, not hurting the bunny at all.

"Ha! Ha!" laughed Grandpa Bull, as he bobbed up out of the spring. "That was a good trick, wasn't it, Uncle Wiggily?"

"It surely was!" chuckled the bunny. "Three cheers for the bubbling spring!" And he and Grandpa Bull cheered and cheered and cheered.

And if the rain did not fall into the well and get so wet it can't go to the lollypop party with the umbrella, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the drum sticks.

Book Reviews

"Aspects of Americanization," by Edward Hale Bierstadt, is a book that has waited long to be written.

During the war we heard a great deal about Americanization. According to the then popular proponents of this new panacea, Americanization was a single action type of beneficent regeneration that should make every foreigner who came to our shores a 100 per cent. Benjamin Franklin.

That Americanization might work both ways was an idea that never occurred to them; that European culture centuries old might contain germs of hidden beauty worthy of our notice; that the foreign-language press might hold a high ideal for America—such opinions were held as almost treasonable.

One of the best-known workers in the California Americanization field said at that time: "I would no more allow—had I my way—a newcomer to America to read the average yellow newspaper printed in English than I would allow an adolescent child to read pornographic literature."

"Aspects of Americanization" is solidly based on an actual knowledge of the foreigners and their social and physical conditions of life; he is treated not as a unit, or a problem, but as a human being. Every conclusion which Mr. Bierstadt has formed has its facts to buttress it.

Many of the points made and incidents cited are painful to read and recall in these days of increasing sanity and normalcy. And to balance these are a host of facts regarding the other kind of Americanization work that has been done in this country—the sort of which none of us need be ashamed.

Fun

EXCELSIOR!

It had been a hard day at the hotel and the bellhop was more than annoyed when he was assigned to tote the bag of an old lady who had a room on the twelfth floor, but who had elected to walk because she was afraid of elevators.

At the top of the third flight he paused, fished in his pocket and held a small object toward her.

"Here's a dime, ma'am," he said. "Now yer can carry yer bag up to yer room yerself."

THE RACE WITH DEATH

The boss had compiled a list with recommendations for increases in salaries and the stenog's name was not among them. It was natural that she should be peeved. In revising the list, one name had to be omitted because of the death of the employee.

"It's too bad Williams died before he got his raise, isn't it?" asked the boss with proper sympathy.

"Yes, indeed," replied the sten with suspicious sweetness, "but I think anyone is liable to die in this office."

APPARATUS AND DEVICES

By RALPH BROWN, RADIO ENGINEER

HEAD SET THAT WILL CATCH WEAK SIGNALS

This new head set is designed to give satisfaction under the most severe operating condition—that of weak signals. Bobbins are automatically wound, insuring proper number of, amperes turns. Balanced windings are employed so that tone distortion is eliminated. Magnets are so designed as to have proper diaphragm pull in a low loss magnetic field. Head band construction insures comfortable fit. Receiver fork and rod lying close to the head does away with horn like effect. Adjustment once made will stay, regardless of handling. Shells of polished aluminum and all other parts are heavily nickled. Head band is covered with cloth webbing of same color as receiver cords. Each head set before leaving factory is rigidly inspected and is thoroughly tested under actual operating conditions. The bobbin windings are made of the best quality insulated wire, and the Ohmic resistance is 2,200. An altogether very efficient and attractive head set, made to sell at a reasonable price. Total weight, including phone cords, fourteen ounces.

RADIO EXPLAINED

By E. H. LEWIS
INSTRUCTOR NEW YORK Y.M.C.A. RADIO SCHOOL

THE LOOP OR COIL AERIAL

A loop aerial is one which is made by winding one or more turns of wire on an insulating framework in the form of a solenoid or spiral coil. The latter is sometimes referred to as a "pancake" coil. In general, the loop aerial will not pick up as much energy from passing radio waves as an antenna unless it is of nearly the same dimensions as the antenna. In some cases, however, a loop is found to be as effective as a regular antenna of larger dimensions than the coil.

When the plane of the loop is oriented so as to be parallel with the direction of propagation of the radio waves from a sending station a difference of potential is set up between the wires on opposite sides of the coil. This occurs because a certain brief fraction of a second elapses between the cutting of the wires nearest the sender and those further away. If the plane of the loop were at right angles to the direction of the advancing radio waves both sides of the coil would be cut by these waves at the same time, and there would be no difference of potential theoretically. If the coil is shunted by a variable condenser an oscillatory circuit is provided, which can be tuned to the signal wave frequency or wave length. The loop is then really only the antenna tuning coil, enlarged to greater dimensions. Due to the fact, however, that the position of the coil aerial with respect to the front of the radio waves determines the relative amount of energy picked up (voltage and current induced in the coil) it has directive properties. In receiving, therefore, the signals are of maximum strength, other things being equal, when the loop is properly oriented with regard to the sending station, and a lesser percentage of energy is picked up from other stations not in line with the plane of the loop. There is an obvious possibility of interference elimination, as well as a possibility of locating the direction of a sending station.

The advance waves from a sending station are frequently distorted in their direction of propagation by conducting objects. If

Versailles Treaty

Revision Proposed

LONDON, July 27.—Revision of the treaty of Versailles in accordance with former President Woodrow Wilson's fourteen points was proposed in a resolution introduced in the international peace congress today by Sir George Paish, famous British economist.

Other proposals in resolutions were as follows:

- 1—Reduction of German indemnities to equal the actual damage done by the war.
- 2—Cancellation of inter-allied debts.
- 3—Withdrawal of the armies of occupation from German soil.
- 4—Restoration of the Saar valley to Germany.
- 5—General disarmament.
- 6—A large international loan to help the restoration of Europe.

Being an easy mark saves lots of wear and tear on the disposition.

They Say That

He was a middle-aged man, tall, vigorous looking, with blue eyes that had an amused twinkle in them, sandy hair and an outdoor complexion. He was selling window boxes, and he had some bright, blossoming samples to show. The geraniums had gorgeous red blooms, there were some blue flowers like bits of sky, and golden and white daisies. His place of business made a gay spot on the busy city street. Women stopped to look and price and discuss.

Some seemed to think—they did not tell him directly, but from the twinkle in his eyes he evidently caught snatches of their conversation—that with his strength and intelligence he ought to be doing something better than selling window boxes. One was heard plaintively remarking about not being able to get a man to do odd jobs.

Others seemed to be enveloped in an atmosphere of suspicion. They were not quite sure he would deliver the boxes, or fearful that the ones brought them would not be up to the samples. He assured them the boxes would be as guaranteed. He said never a word, though the twinkle in his eyes betrayed the knowledge that he knew some of the women would not take the home when he delivered them, deeming it a sufficient excuse that they had changed their mind.

So all day long his flowers and the chatting crowd about them made a spot of brightness and life on the sidewalk and everybody who went by was cheered by the sight of the bloom or went on their way thinking happily of the bit of beauty they had secured for their home.

Was he just as usefully employed as in doing odd jobs? You remember the story by a famous English novelist of a young girl with some unexpected money of her own to spend who craved a certain beautiful vase. But her practical aunt committed the double sin of making her buy some drab-colored print for a dress—the kind that won't show soil, as if one is willing to be unclean if it doesn't show. Could the child have had her beautiful bit of pottery, her soul would have blossomed out every time she looked at it. It would have led her on paths upward no one knows whither. As it was, every time she looked at her drab frock and upon her soul shivered.

The French are beauty lovers. The French woman, if she has little else of beauty, will have her flowers, a little pot or box at the window, a jar of them on the table. The beauty of the French dress ensnares the world, the beauty of French art is supreme, and the beauty of the French soul the war has proven.

We need our simple beauty makers. What they bring is all that some can afford, all that some, perhaps, can perceive. But, nevertheless, it will be to them the portal to the land of enchantment. All of us can be a patron to help support this humble form of art. In a way it is giving but a mite, but it may multiply a hundredfold to the one who receives it.

It's A Fact

LAW HELD NOT VALID

New Jersey's law exempting new dwellings from taxation for a period of five years has been held by the supreme court of that state to be unconstitutional, being in conflict with the provisions requiring uniform assessment and prohibiting private, local and special laws granting exclusive privileges or immunities. This law was enacted with the object of encouraging the erection of dwellings to relieve the housing shortage created as a result of the suspension of building operations during the war.

TO EXTEND PIER

A gradual extension of the auditorium pier at Ocean park is now proposed by the city of Santa Monica instead of a single extension under a bond issue. A few feet can be added to the pier each year to provide additional parking space for automobiles without laying a heavy burden on the taxpayers, in the opinion of W. H. Carter, commissioner of public works. A proposition to charge a nominal fee for parking on the pier is under consideration.

THEATRE AIRPLANE

An electric motor, air compressor and horn have been invented to simulate the sound of an approaching airplane in theatrical productions.

ENGLISH PROCESS

The discovery is claimed by an Englishman of a process that more than doubles the output of electroplating baths, especially those for silver plating.

With economy of both fuel and labor in view several Swedish railways are experimenting with Diesel motor engines in place of steam locomotives.

An air compressor, hoist and gasoline motor to operate them have been combined on one base for convenience in handling about building operations.

The new Goodyear Cross-Rib Tread Cord

A Popular-Priced Cord Tire Without a Rival

The new Goodyear Cross-Rib Tread Cord Tire is built with genuine high-grade long-staple cotton as a foundation.

It is liberally oversize—the 4½-inch tire, for example, measuring nearly 5 inches.

The deep, clean-cut, cog-like pattern of its tread affords excellent traction even in snow and mud, engaging the road like a cogwheel.

The scientific distribution of rubber in this tread—the wide center rib and the semi-flat contour—gives a thick, broad surface that is exceedingly slow to wear.

This new tire is a genuine Goodyear through and through—in design, in material, in construction.

It costs less to buy than the net price you are asked to pay for many "long discount" tires of unknown reputation and value.

Why be satisfied with less than this efficient tire can give—why take a chance on an unknown make?

You can get this new Goodyear Cross-Rib Tread Cord now, as well as the famous All-Weather Tread Cord, from any of the Goodyear Service Station Dealers listed here.

GLENDALE EVENING NEWS Story Contest for Children

First Prize: $5.00 Cash, given by The Glendale Evening News; Second Prize: $3.50 2-A Brownie Kodak, given by Roberts & Echols; Third Prize: $1.50 Fancy Box of Kaighin's Quality Chocolates by Kaighin's Candy Factory; Fourth Prize: $1.00 Worth of Tickets to T. D. & L. Theatre.

Here's your opportunity to see whether you have in the family an embryonic Mark Twain, a Frances Hodgson Burnett or an advertising man or woman. Through the generosity of a number of Glendale business men, several prizes have been offered on "Why I Like My Home"—and it gives the children a chance to tell in their own words just why they like their home surroundings. We don't want to make too many suggestions about the essays, for it tends to limit the imagination of the child; but we want to emphasize the fact if there is a romping dog, or a friend of the child's, he might very well find a place in the story. Same way with the cat—the child's garden—play-room—dad's garage—the family auto—the interior of the house, papa, mamma, aunts, grandparents—all are proper subjects for partial discussion.

In other words, have your child or child friend write on why he loves his home, why his home is dear to him—all of us grown-ups know what "Home, Sweet Home" means—but few know the child's idea of it. The best stories of 600 words or less will be paid for with prizes enumerated in the heading. Contest open to every boy and girl in Glendale under 16—every child has a chance—for the age of the kiddie will be taken into consideration. The best stories will be published in The Evening News. All stories must be mailed or brought to The News Office by Tuesday noon, Aug. 1. Names of winners will be published in this paper Wednesday, Aug. 2.

DEMAND IS HEAVY FOR EAGLE ROCK PROPERTY

Quick Turn Over of Lots Net Sellers Goodly Sum Of Profit

Who said the real estate business in Eagle Rock is quiet? Since Monday of this week, H. G. Warren of 214 South Central avenue reports the sale of three business lots on York boulevard at a total value of $5250, a residence lot in Eagle Rock at $1250, another at $1500, and still another at $1800. This makes a grand total of $3600, divided among six lots in exactly three days.

Report Good Business

Practically every real estate man in town reports that business is rushing. The slogan seems to be "Buy a piece of property anywhere in Eagle Rock at some value, and you will be able to realize a profit, provided you want to sell, before the ink is fairly set on the deed."

There has been instance after instance of remarkable quick turn overs in real estate transactions that bear out this slogan, it is said. From the standpoint of building a home in which to love, or to buy a piece of property as an investment Eagle Rock offers the purchaser of real estate more attractions and inducements than can be found in many a day's travel.

A rare piece of acting should always be well done.

Miss Jewell Garner, who has been living for some time in Glendale and who is to leave shortly for her old home in Amarillo, Texas, was complimented today at an informal luncheon given by Mrs. Charles D. Klamm at her home at 1347 South San Fernando road.

Luncheon was served on a table artistically decorated in a color scheme of pink and green. Pink sweetpeas and ferns were combined for the centerpiece, while hand-painted place-cards in pastel shades of pink, blue and green marked the places.

After the luncheon an informal social afternoon was planned by the hostess for the pleasure of her guests.

Mrs. Klamm's guests were Miss Jewell Garner and Mesdames Joe Foster, W. West, L. L. Baker and Miss Ethel West.

P. T. A. PRESENTING

NOTED PICTURE IN BIRD CITY

The Three Musketeers With Douglas Fairbanks Being Shown at School

By special arrangement, the feature photograph "The Three Musketeers," featuring Douglas Fairbanks is to be shown tonight and tomorrow evening at the Central school auditorium, Eagle Rock, under the auspices of the Federated Parent-Teacher association.

Until this week it has been the custom of the P. T. A. to have but one entertainment each week, on Friday evenings. The profits from these movies go toward the maintenance of the summer playground program which is being taken care of by that organization.

Special Prices Given

The association is able to secure the film of the much talked about picture for two evenings, and on account of the special arrangement, the prices are to be reduced to 35 cents for adults, and 20 cents for children.

Mrs. A. G. Riley, president of the Federated association, states that although the shows have received good support from Eagle Rock people, the profits have so far amounted to but a few dollars a week, and the playground work has been considerably hampered for lack of funds.

It is hoped this week that the two shows will net a good return, so that various entertainments which are contemplated for the kiddies may become a reality.

San Gabriel Women Study Club Guests

Four San Gabriel women were the guests of Mrs. Edwin Thompson at the Southwest museum in Los Angeles with the Wednesday Study club of Eagle Rock. The guests were Mrs. Bean, president of the club; Mrs. W. M. C. Porter, Mrs. H. H. Botsford, who has charge of the program next year for the same club; Mrs. Saunders and Mrs. Fletcher, the latter two also residents of San Gabriel.

Miss Wellings' Home Next Guild Meeting

The St. Barnabas Episcopal Guild met yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Ada Roberts on Jackson street, Glendale. They enjoyed their lunch under the trees on Mrs. Roberts' lawn. Miss Wellings will have the next meeting at the home of Mrs. B. B. Martell of 251 North Satsuma avenue, Eagle Rock.

Mrs. Hamilton Brown Bridge Tea Hostess

Mrs. Hamilton Brown was hostess Wednesday at a bridge and 6 o'clock tea at the home of Mrs. W. H. Gage at 1233 Dorothy drive. The affair honored Miss Kathleen White of Hamilton, Canada, and Mesdames E. H. Botsford and S. E. Allen of Glendale.

The afternoon was spent playing bridge and early in the evening a delightful supper was served.

Botsford of Glenwood park; Mrs. S. E. Allen, Mrs. J. C. Person, Mr. and Mrs. James Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Gage, Miss Enid Brown and Miss Hartley Person.

Motorcycle Officer C. L. Dice Near Crash

Motorcycle Officer C. L. Dice, who miraculously escaped serious injury late Monday night, is resuming his duties this afternoon with the Glendale Police department.

At a speed of about seventy miles an hour, while he was passing the Broadway way school in pursuit of an automobile speeder, the rear tire of his motorcycle suddenly came off. Mr. Dice had presence of mind enough to paddle the ground with his feet in order to keep the machine upright. He is confident that, if he had not done so, it would have toppled over and been wrecked. He cautions first to the left curb and then to the right curb and then went straight from the middle of the street for three blocks before the machine came to a stop.

New shoes were completely worn out by their contact with the ground. Outside of a wrenched back Mr. Dice received no injury.

timism. We have broken away from the formalities which separate us; we are one in affection and co-operation without which there can be no great results from our efforts. There is abundant evidence that the Kiwanis spirit of service permeates this club and speaking in its behalf, I feel that you will never have occasion to be anything but proud of Glendale Kiwanians."

A large silk American flag and standard was officially presented to the club in a short patriotic speech by William H. Reeves, who called attention to the patriotism of peace which may be made to match the patriotism of war.

"We are grateful indeed for this beautiful emblem of our country and henceforth it will always hold the place of honor at our meetings," declared Don H. Webb, secretary of the local club, in accepting the flag. "We will try to respect and defend it with the honor that it is befitting to receive."

Through Friendship

"Kiwanis builds through friendship, through friendship and kindness for the fellowship of man with man. Man lives but a few short years, dies and is forgotten. But his works, no matter how small, leave a ripple upon the tide of humanity. Destiny is the result of what you and I are doing now. Kiwanis builds for the future, not in things that are perishable, but in things of the spirit."

P. H. Kean, official of the Kiwanis international, made the formal presentation of a Kiwanis banner, which is now in transit to the local club. He called attention to the highest ideals of Kiwanianism. The speech of acceptance was made by Herman Nelson, member of the local club.

Music during the evening was furnished by two orchestras. During the first hour of the banquet several selections were played by a trio consisting of "Herb" Henning at the piano, Julius Bierlich of Los Angeles with a violin and Joseph Heindl of Los Angeles with a cello. "Bill" Bode was called upon for several saxophone solos, which were much applauded. Later he was a member of the orchestra which provided rhythm for the dancing. Other members of this quartet were Herbert Henning and two musicians from Los Angeles, Ted Hayward and Bernard Minor.

Honesty oftentimes shoots the rapids of adversity in safety, whereas dishonesty is dashed to pieces on the rocks. There is nothing like honesty and good credit in time of reverses.

CLEVER SKETCH IS BEING OFFERED AT T. D. & L.

Eight In Cast of Pleasing
 Vaudeville Act to Be Presented Tonight

A change will be made tonight in the vaudeville act to be presented at 8:30 o'clock at the T. D. & L. theatre in connection with the Barthelmless film feature, "Sonny," and Glendale people will have the chance to see Miss Wynn Ritchie and her supporting cast from the Junior Orpheum circuit in a return engagement of "The Price of a Kiss."

The cast includes eight clever actors and the sketch is a vaudeville offering that will be equally as entertaining for those who have seen it and for those who will see it for the first time. It is full of witty repartee and has a whirlwind climax that is so necessary to the success of a short skit.

Excellent Picture

As for the film feature, Richard Barthelmless has created a long-lived character in "Sonny" and has won many new admirers and many old ones over again.

The vaudeville and film combination programs at the T. D. & L. are proving a happy one and the theatre's patrons are receiving more than good value for the price of admission.

The district between the mountains and the sea, and including Glendale and Los Angeles, as well as other suburbs, will have a population of a million and a half by 1929, he predicted. In 1940 the total should reach three millions and, in his opinion, 1950 should see a population of five millions in that territory.

Business of Board
 Mr. Snyder's talk was preceded by the reading of a questionnaire from both the National Association of Realty Boards, and from the state association and suggestions were made as to the attitude the board should take in answering the questions.

Letters which have been received by various members of the board from a company of Los Angeles in regard to payment for certain classified advertising were discussed. It was stated that the contracts which had been entered into by the members and the company had not been carried out as to certain details, and that the board should repudiate all bills coming under this contract.

A motion to this effect was passed, including instructions to the secretary to send to the president of the company, a personal letter giving the board's position in the matter.

A. M. Yale reported that he had as yet been set for the joint meeting of the realty boards of Glendale, Eagle Rock and Burbank, and asked permission to set the date for next Wednesday if that is agreeable to the other two boards. This permission was granted, and arrangements made that in case the date was unsatisfactory speakers for and against the proposed Lawyers' Bill should address the local board next Wednesday.

Luncheon Invitation
 Mrs. M. L. Tight invited members of the board, and, in fact, every citizen of Glendale, to be present at the luncheon at noon today of the East Glendale Advancement Association at the Broadway Inn to "see why we were able to put across the hotel project," as she expressed it. The hotel, she stated, would go into escrow today and actual work on the six-story structure begun next Monday.

Just before the meeting adjourned, Charles B. Guthrie brought up a plan to prevent the "choking to death" of Glendale and Burbank by the alleged proposed routing of the Riverside drive to eliminate the two cities from the main traffic routes. Mr. Guthrie proposed the annexation by Glendale of the strip of land between Glendale city limits and Griffith park. With this in possession of Glendale, he stated, Los Angeles would necessarily have to route the drive through this city.

In addition to benefiting Glendale by defeating the alleged plot to cut off travel from Glendale and Burbank, he said, this measure would also immensely benefit the territory to be annexed. Immediate development and consequent rise in value of property there, predicted Mr. Guthrie, would follow the joining of that section with Glendale.

"This is not a thing to talk about," declared the realtor, "but something to be done and done now. It is vital to the prosperity of Glendale and of the strip to be annexed."

A motion was carried that a committee be appointed to take all necessary steps to further the project and that all members of the board do everything in their power to aid the work.

REALTY MEN HEAR OF INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT

Great Southwest Gets Much
 New Business, Declares
 Speaker at Meeting

 of irrigation waters will be made realities within a few years, he said.

The citrus and deciduous fruits, explained Mr. Snyder, are almost at their climax now, but with sufficient water available for the irrigation of the present undeveloped territory, staples will be raised in almost unbelievable quantities.

He predicts that cotton will be raised extensively, along with other textiles, and that as a consequence textile industries will spring up. Southern California, he believes, may even become the cotton and textile center of the world.

Future of Southwest
 "The thing that real estate men need to know, absorb and believe," he declared, "is that the future of the southwest is dependent upon its industrial development, and that the potentialities and facilities for that development are all here. If I were a real estate man in Glendale I believe that I would concentrate my efforts on the upbuilding and beautification of a residential district and the opening and maintenance of large, beautiful boulevards to handle the traffic between here and the city. The industrial section of Los Angeles belongs between that city and the ocean; the residential section should include this territory here. If you do have small industries, segregate them in certain sections so that your residential property will remain unimpaired."

The district between the mountains and the sea, and including Glendale and Los Angeles, as well as other suburbs, will have a population of a million and a half by 1929, he predicted. In 1940 the total should reach three millions and, in his opinion, 1950 should see a population of five millions in that territory.

GEORGE ARLISS IN COMEDY DRAMA AT GLENDALE

Middle-Aged Man, Wealthy,
 Retires From Business to Rest and Then—

The query of just how indispensable a man is, has been touched upon in the newest George Arliss photoplay, "The Ruling Passion," which is being shown for the last time in Glendale tonight at the Glendale theatre.

Every now and then one of the big points of life crop up in the George Arliss photoplays and in each instance the distinguished actor makes a strong play on that point, because motion pictures are in a measure, the best medium for driving home a thought.

In "The Ruling Passion" the role assigned to Mr. Arliss is that of James Alden, a middle-aged man but by no means too old to work. He has been ordered by his physician to retire from business and consents only after pleas by members of his family.

Can Be Replaced
 A meeting of the board of directors of the company has been called, to consider and to accept his resignation, and in the general leave taking Alden smilingly assures his associates:

"No man is indispensable—except to his own family."
 There is no note of sadness intended in this. It is a thought that is acceptable because of the truth behind it and the man, in any walk of life, who believes, even after a whole lifetime spent, in any line of human endeavor, that he cannot be replaced, is held to be in error.

The moral is: Do your best and set a fast pace for your successor!

"IF I COULD ONLY GET UP THAT GAS I Know I Would Feel Better"

How often have you felt that way? How often have you wished for something to give you genuine and lasting relief from gas?

Don't buy any ordinary dyspepsia tablets for temporary results. Go to a first-class drug store and ask for a bottle of genuine Baalmann's Gas Tablets. Take three tablets an hour before meals and again three after eating—then watch.

Now comes a surprise. No more gas, no more smothered feeling, no difficult breathing, no bloating.

Remember, Baalmann's Gas Tablets are not only for the relief, but also for the prevention of gas. Most people with gas suffer from nervous dyspepsia—not common indigestion.

Baalmann's Gas Tablets in the famous yellow package, price one dollar, are sold by Roberts & Echols and other reliable druggists. J. Baalmann, Chemist, San Francisco.—Advertisement.

California, with its more than 3,000,000 population, is sparsely populated, comparatively speaking. When this state's population reaches 10,000,000, there will be no fears of overcrowding. For no experts have estimated that this state could sustain a population of 30,000,000 and yet not be so thickly populated as Belgium.
